Here lies a woman

(From 'The Catch Club or Merry Companions' 1730)

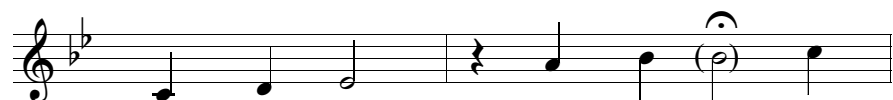

Here lies a wo-man, who can de-ny it? She died in peace, though liv'd un - qui - et.

Her hus-band prays, if o'er her grave you walk, you would treat soft, you would treat

soft; for if she wake for if she wake she'll talk! treat

soft; for if she wake, she'll talk!

Here lies a woman, who can deny it?
She died in peace, though liv'd unquiet.
Her husband prays,
if o'er her grave you walk,
You would tread soft;
for if she wake, - she'll talk!
